-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 19-26, 30-34 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mahoney in view of Decker et al.

Mahoney et al. discloses a method of managing the loading of patrons to an attraction in an entertainment environment (see fig. 1 area 66) wherein patrons are permitted access to the attraction on at least two bases, the first being a first-in first-out basis (que 70), and the second being a priority basis established by a prior allocation of a time of entry into the attraction (allocated times 52/62/64), comprising:

receiving from a patron a priority request for an allocation of a return time (device 42 receives the request from a patron), the priority request being entered on a television unit located at a resort facility, the priority request being received at a central computer that regulates the number of patrons allowed to enter the attraction (computer 16 is a line waiting management computer), transmitting to the patron a return time via the television unit (see col. 4, line 12, host computer relays time availability information -read as a return time- to device 42); loading the patron having the return time to the attraction on or after the return time (the patron makes his desired selections col. 4 line 18); and loading the attraction on a first-in first-out basis for any patron not having an allocated return time (elements 64/68 allow for access to the facility either FIFO or return time ticket).

However, Mahoney et al. fails to disclose a resort facility related to the entertainment environment that is located remotely from the entertainment environment where one can enter a priority request on a television at a resort facility; and the response including available return times being transmitted to patron via the television unit. But, Decker discloses a hotel room (resort room) in which the television is used to order e.g. Italian food col. 12 line 49 which restaurant is located remotely of the room from it was ordered. Decker further discloses ordering using a high speed network using the system controller 140 connected to a television to effect ordering. Official notice is taken of COMCAST which provides high speed network. It would be an obvious modification to Mahoney et al. to place an ordering system in a hotel e.g. resort, as taught by Decker et al. and to use the television as a means for communicating an order (official notice is taken thereof), the motivation being the use of the television in Decker which already presents the ordering menu on the television to reserve a place in line at an amusement park which is an obvious annexation of a hotel. Gatto is provided as evidence of Official Notice of television ordering and to use it as part of the proposed combination is a mere implementation of commonly known technology associated with a television.

Re claims 20 and 21,23, 24,26: Multiple requests are deemed a mere repetition of steps.

Re Claim 22: The television unit is located in a room of the patron in Decker et al. the room of the patron is associated with the entertainment environment in accordance with the above combination analysis.

Re Claim 25: Mahoney discloses placing the input device 42 in a common area and the replacement of the device 42 with a TV is set forth above.

Re Claim 30: Card 52 in Mahoney is a computer readable magnetic code.

Re Claims 31,32: The device 64 in Mahoney redeems at a time of entry into the entertainment environment.

Re Claims 32,33: Official notice is taken of the practice of tracking outstanding number of unredeemed return times to the number of allocated times, and feeding back redemptions of return times such that near real time updates of return tune availability may be computed. The notice is made Final.

Claims 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mohoney in view of Decker et al, and further in view of Christie. The proposed combination fails to disclose a prioritization of access. However, Christie teaches that access to a given asset can be controlled by a given privilege level assigned to different user groups. It would be obvious to modify the proposed combination to include tiered access feature of Christie because the motivation for this would be to reward those who use the system most with the greatest access. The ratio of use is deemed to be unity in Mahoney. The exchange and or nonuse of an item for credit is deemed an old expedient in the art, official notice is taken thereof and is made final.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 5/7/2007 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
